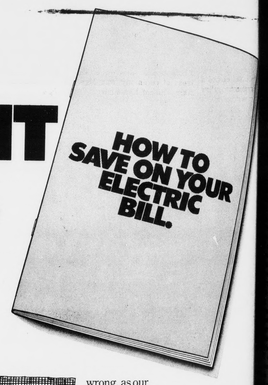
WANT ... GET RES...

PREVENT WASTE.



Electrically speaking, it's good for your budget.

Because while the electricity you're using today is one of the best buys around, the electricity you waste is expensive. The television set that's on while you're out of the room, for example. Or the thermostat that's set too high in the winter.

To help you avoid wasting electricity—and get the most for your electric dollar—Vepco would like to give you a copy of a new free booklet, "How to Save on Your Electric Bill." You can pick up a copy at any Vepco office, and it's filled with easy, sensible money-saving ideas anyone can use.

Some of the suggestions are as simple as remembering to close the refrigerator door, or cleaning the lint filter on your electric dryer.

But some of the ideas aren't quite so obvious. Like repairing that leaky hot water faucet: one drop a second adds up to almost 200 gallons a month—and that's a lot of hot water (and electricity) down the drain!

And what about turning out the lights when you leave the room? Some people don't, because they think turning a light on and off uses more electricity than leaving it on. They're wrong, as our enlightening little booklet quickly points out.

The booklet includes tips on efficient air conditioning and heating, too, plus freezing and dish washing advice. It even tells you how to boil water! The ideas are all the kind you can use without being an electrical engineer, and they'll all help you get the most for your money—which is always a bargain.

We want you to enjoy the convenience of electricity, but we want you to enjoy the economy, too. So we hope you'll stop by or call your Vepco office for a free copy of "How to Save on Your Electric Bill" today. Because when it comes to economy, there's nothing we'd like more than for you to see the light.
